The Epilogue.

I shall close up my Animadversions and Amendments with this Epilogue, of other misquotations or mistakes of Records, and supply of defects in their Numbers or Membranae, in the Margin and Text of this Fourth Part of the Institutes, not formerly touched, beginning with those in the Placita coram Rege, (kept in the Treasury of the Kings Receipts in the Exchequer at Westminster) the learned Author for the most part usually quoting the number of the Folio of Mr. Agars Abridgments of, and Kalendars to them, for the number of the Roll or Record it self, (though truly cited in the margin of Mr. Agars Abridgement) as I found by comparing both together. (the Author as it seems having no leisure to peruse or examine either of them himself;) and then proceed to those in the Records in the Tower of London; the list whereof may serve instead of a new and further Errata to these Institutes.

Page 72. l. 4. his 27 H. 3. coram Rege, rot. 9. Hus, &c. is not to be found in the Exchequer or Tower. P. 105. l. 34. marg. 34 & 35 E. 1. coram Rogero, &c. is rot. 75. Middlesex. P. 182. l. 7. marg. Hil. 32 E. 1. coram Rege, rot. 91, 97. have nothing in them for which they are quoted. P. 200. l. 24. marg. Mich. 26 E. 1. coram Rege, Will. de Ludars case, (is rot. 43. omitted.) P. 215. l. 1, 2. marg. Pasc. 9 E. 2. coram Rege, rot. 32. should be rot. 113. Cestria. P. 338. l. 30. marg. rot. 157. Norff. is rot. 114. Ibid. l. 32. rot. 170. is rot. 46. the Folioes of Mr. Agars Abridgement being quoted in most of these, for the Number Roll. As for the Rolls he quotes in Com. Banco, in his margin p. 100, 101, 102, 202, 210, 258, 261, 270, 314. I have not had leisure to examine them with the Records themselves in the Office of Receipts in the Exchequer, having had trouble enough to examine those premised. The mistakes in them may justly admonish all who shall have any occasion to vouch or make use of those in Com. Banc. to compare his quotations of them with the originals, before they relye upon them; and should excite some industrious Professors of the Law, to undertake this Task, to rectifie all his mistakes of Records in the Common Pleas, and other Treasuries at Westminster, for their own and other Lawyers publick benefit; and not repute it a superfluous or useles undertaking, as some have done, upon no other account, but because they are unwilling to be at the pains or cost to examine them, or cited them as genuine; and therefore would have all repute them true and infallible quotations, not fit to be doubted, much less questioned or rectified, though mistakes: As Popes and Romanists refuse to correct or discover the grosse ridiculous false Legends, Miracles, Impostures in the † Lives of their Romish Saints, * because they have been so long preached by crafty covetous Priests, Monks, and received, believed by the over-credulous deluded ignorant people, though most notorious falsehoods, impostures, and the correcting of them would convince their Popes, Church of Errors, and not to be infallible. I shall next give you an account of some few more mistakes, misquotations, and defects of Membranae in Records in the Tower of London, cited in these Institutes.

Page 45. l. 13, to 19. marg. Claus. in dorf. 11 E. 3. pars 2. m. 11. &c. hath no such words as are there quoted. P. 60. l. 9. marg. 22 lib. Ass. pl. 52: hath nothing in it for which it is cited. The case of Redland contra Spinke, coram Rege & Consilio, l. 20. cited to be in Rot. Pat. part. 2. 38 E. 3. m. 13. & l. 23. Ralph Brantingham's case, cited to be Rot. Pat. part. 1. 39 E. 3. m. 13. are not to be found in those Membranes or Rolls, upon my diligentest perusal of them, being mistakes or misquotations.

Cap. 5. p. 60, & 61. (Of the Honourable Court of Star-chamber;) abound with several mistaken numbers of membranes, misquotations, and some grosser mistakes, which I cannot pretermitt, though that Court be suppressed.

Page 60. l. 37. Rot. Claus. 16 R. dorf. m. 11. the Abbot of St. Augustines case, is truly cited: & Pat. 6 H. 5. and the case of William Godred and his wife against H. S. (I found in m. 7. of that Roll, which he omits;) In Pat. 7 H. 5. (m. 12. omitted by him) I found the case between Thomas Weddile and others; against Johan Manors and others for certain Manors, for which there were suits depending coram Rege & Consilio suo; and that sequestrations of the Manors were granted by consent of the parties into the Kings hands to preserve the peace; till a certain time, by which those suits might be determined: But all these suits before the King and his Council for the Right, Title to the Wrec, Manors, Lands in question, I conceive to be only held before them in Parliament, not in Star-chamber; (named not in these records) which intermeddled not with rights, Titles to Liberties, Manors or Free-holds, as * Parliaments usually did, but only with misdeemeanors, crimes, which were mala in se, or mala prohibita, as the Statute of 3 H. 7. c. 1. and himself in these his Institutes resolve, p. 62, 63.

Processus inter Jacobum Daudeley & Elizabethum uxorem Nicholai Daudeley coram Consilio Regis.

Ibid. l. 41. An. 41 E. 3. Rot. Claus. in a Bill of Complaint exhibited to the King by Elizabeth the widow of Nich. Audeley plaintiff, against John Audeley defendant, who appeared before the Kings Council, viz. the Chancellor, Treasurer, Justices, and others, assembled en le Chamber des Escoiers pres de la rechetes. In which case, as the Author omits the membrane of the Roll, viz. m. 12, 13. here supplied: so he is culpable of many mistakes therein; 1. In making Jane Audeley Defendant in this case, instead of James Audeley. 2ly. In placing this case under the Title of the Honourable Court of Star-chamber, Coram Rege & Consilio suo: as properly belonging to, and determined by that Court as such: when as the very beginning of the Record assures us, it was, Al Parlement nostre Seigneur le Roy tenuz a Westminster le quint jour de May, l'an de son regne 40. wherein Elizabeth femme Monf. Nich. Daudeley pursue a nostre Seigneur le Roy, to have an estate of 400 marks a year settled on her, according to Contracts and Agreements made with her Mother Alice Countesse of Bogan, before her marriage with his sonne Nicholas, which assurance he refused to make; for which she prayed remedy of the King in Parliament, not in the Star-chamber; Whereupon, nostre Seigneur le Roy fist venir le dit Monf. James devant son Conseil, cest assavoir, Chancelier, Tresorier, Justices et autres Sages assemblez in la Chambre de Escoiers, &c. (where they met for this purpose as his Council, or a Committee in Parliament, not as a Star-chamber Court.) Et sur ce le dit Monf. James se mis haute & bas en la agard et Ordenance nostre Seigneur le Roy et de son Conseil de les pletres suivoites, et le dit Elizabeth ausynt: The whole debate, proceedings and award made therein by the King and his Council are recited in the Roll at large, with the penalty if not performed by the Defendant, against whom they awarded damages to the Complainant; After which, the performance of the award was acknowledged by both parties before the Council, and in the Chancery, and the acquittance of the money paid therein enrolled in Chancery: In fine, (the Parliament being ended) la dite Elizabeth vetent en propre persone en la dit Chancelerie, (not Star-chamber) et pria jour outre, quel jour luy est done a sa request. So as this case hath no relation to the Star-chamber as a Court, but only as to a place where those Lords met as a Committee of Parliament to hear and end this Petition delivered to the King in Parliament.

I shall only inform you of 3. other mistakes worthy special observation:

The First, in his Chapter of the Star Chamber, Page 60, line 29, &c. in the Text. The case of the Abbot of Bruera, and Robert Ragg his fellow Monk, Rot. Clauf. 42 E. 3. m. 8. dorf. Though the Roll thereof be truly quoted; yet the case is misreported in two particulars: First, that they were sentenced Coram Rege & Consilio for raising a Record: (to wit, *for the Monks raising the word Fiffe-bida out of the Charter of divers Lands and Liberties granted to the Abbot and Monks of that Abbey by King Rich. 1. and inserting Esflegb in its stead, and then procuring it to be confirmed by the Charter of King Edward the 3d. with the name of Esflegb in it, and endeavouring to have the Charter thus ratified allowed in the Kings Bench in a suit between him and the Abbot of Cirencester: which rasure the Abbot alleged was made without his privity;) When as there was no penal sentence passed against their persons in the Record, it being done without the Abbots knowledge, and the Monk then fled from the house. 2ly. In affirming that this was done Coram Rege & Consilio in the Honorable Court of Star Chamber; and that the Letters Patents were there by sentence cancelled: when as the Record is; That this Cognitio Abbatis de Bruera, and all these proceedings were, facta coram Rege in Cancellaria sua in Quindena S. Michaelis, &c. at which day the Abbot was summoned to appear by the Kings Writ, & bring the rased Charter of King Richard coram Consilio nostro apud Westm. &c. Ad quem diem prefatus Abbas de Bruera dictam Cartam de confirmatione Domini Regis nunc super dicta Carta predicti Ricardi Regis sic in verbo predicto rafa facta ad dictam Cancellariam (not Cameram Stellatam) detulit; and there averred, quod ipse nunquam eandem Cartam illam rasam, si qua fuerit, vidit, nec penes se habet, &c. ita quod Cartam illam aliquo modo habere non potest: Per quod dicta Carta confirmationis restituitur, cancellatur & damnatur, in the Chancery, (the proper Court to examine and cancell rased Charters,) not Star Chamber; as the Author too grossly fancied.

* Omitted in the Institutes, p. 60.

... The

The Second, is in Page 61. line 3. &c. which very confidently relates, That the Abbot of Westminster exhibited his Bill to the King against the Sheriffs of London, for arresting and drawing out with force a privileged person out of the Sanctuary of St. Martins le grand, belonging to the said Abbey, &c. Which matter after due proceedings being heard in the Court of Starchamber before the Lords and others of the Kings Council, and Hodey and Newton Chief Justices: which Justices determining, that by Law the party ought to enjoy the privilege of Sanctuary, the Sheriffs were grievously fined in Starchamber by particular name. Which Sentence the Lord Dier, as he reported under his own hand, saw upon a reference to him and Justice Southcote out of the Starchamber, Trin. 11 Regine Eliz. concerning the Sanctuary of Westminster, &c. and the Lord Dier made this Note with his own hand. Rota, per le Starchamber. And this is a notable proof of the Jurisdiction of the Court for fining, &c. That the Bill was exhibited to the King, and that the two Chief Justices then did sit, and were Judges (among others) in that Court.

But this Case is too grossly mistaken, misreported both by the Lord Dier, (if this Report of him be true) and by the reverend Author of the Justities in sundry particulars: First, in the year, An. 29 H. 6. as his Margin quotes it, without any Roll, wherein to find it: when as it was Anno & Pat. 19 H. 6. parte 3. m. 3. insua, as the Record attests. 2ly. In the party Complainant; which he makes to be the Abbot of Westminster: affirming, the Sanctuary of St. Martyns belonged to the said Abbey; when as the plaintiffs were the Dean and Chapter of St. Martyns the Great London; being the Kings own Free Chappel and Sanctuary, not the Abbot of Westminster, and so a violation of the rights of the King and his Crown, as the Kings Writ thereon, and exemplification thereof, Pro Decano & Capitulo Sancti Martini magni London. assure us, and many other Records concerning St. Martyns being the Kings Free Chappel. 3ly. In the number of Defendants, the Mayor as well as Sheriffs of London being Defendants, as the Kings Writ to them inform us: 4ly. In the number of the privileged persons taken by force out of the Sanctuary, being not one, but five. 5ly. In the manner of proceeding; That the Abbot exhibited his Bill to the King, &c. when as the Dean and Chapter only petitioned the King in writing. 6ly. That the matter was heard in the Court of Starchamber before the Lords and others of the Kings Council: when as the King referred the examination of the Right of the Sanctuary and Petition to his Chancellor and Treasurer, to report the same unto him when examined; who by the Kings command called both the Chief Justices to their assistance: and when they had heard the Records, Charters, Bills and allegations of both parties; reported the whole matter and their opinions to the King, That the Prisoners ought to be restored to the Sanctuary; which the King accordingly ordered, by advise of others of his Council present at their report. 7ly. That the Sheriffs were grievously fined in Starchamber by particular name: And that this is a notable proof of the Jurisdiction of this Court for fining, &c. A notable pretident of his mistakes: when as there was no fine at all imposed on the Sheriffs, or any others, but the prisoners only restored to the Sanctuary, as the Record thereof informs us. 8ly. That the two Chief Justices then, did sit and were Judges amongst others, in that Court of Starchamber: when as they sat not in the Starchamber, not once named in the Record; but in the Chancery, as assistants to the Chancellor and Treasurer, to whom the King referred this case, and wherein all the proceedings then were, and still remain recorded. For the irrefragable proof of all which particular mistakes by the Record thereof, I shall here present you with its examined transcript.

How far these two Reverend Chief Justices Reports of, and Inferences from this Case for the Star-Chamber Courts Jurisdiction, Proceedings, fixing, &c. vary from the Record it self, in all the premised particulars; and how unsafe it is to take Records upon trust, from the reports of learned Judges, who never read nor perused their originals, let the indifferent Readers judge by this president, and that which next follows,

The Third, is Page 61. l. 34. The Kings Counsel assembled in the Starchamber; The Lord Cromwells case, Rot. Cl. 28 H. 6. so the Margin; (and that as in a Court of Justice to punish riots, as the Author intends by placing it under his Title Of the Honourable Court of Starchamber, and inserting it in the midst of other cases there sentenced. In which there is a double mistake; First, in the quotation of Rot. Cl. 28 H. 6. and that in grosse: wherein there is not one syllable to that purpose: when as the case of the Lord Cromwell he cites and meant, is mentioned only in Rot. Parl. Anno 28 H. 6. nu. 56. in the Commons impeachment of Talboys in that Parliament. 2ly. That the Lords of the Kings Counsaile assembled then in the Starchamber, as a Court, not as in the Kings Counsaile house sitting the Parliament, about the affairs thereof; upon which account they then met in it: where William Talboys, a Common Murderer, & Breaker of the Peace, accompanied with divers other riotous people, arrayed with Jacks, Salletes, swords and glaives in manner of warre, intended maliciously to slay and murder the Lord Cromwell, the King being there at that time in his High and Royal Court of Parliament: The which great riot thus done in the fourme aforesaid, (as the Commons expressly declare in their appeachment of him for it, in that Parliament) is one of the gristeft, beynous, and most odious riots that hath been seen in your time, or in the time of your Progenitors, and most perillous ensample to alle misdoers and riotours, if this be not openly, duely and discreetly punished. Of which riot and offense so done in your said Palays (where many great Lords of your Counsaile by your high command were assembled in your Counsaile house called the Sterre Chamber, within your Palapes of Westminster) wee your Commons of this your Realm in this your present Court of Parliament assembled, accuse and appeache the said William Talboyes. Beseeching your High and most Noble Grace of your great Righteousnesse; that this our Petition may be enacted in this your High and Royal Court of Parliament: wherein they prayed, That the said William Talboyes might be sent Prisoner to the Tower of London, and there kept without bayl or mainprize for 12. moneths space next after such Commitment, and brought to answer all Indictments against him for it, and other riots, befoze the King and his Justices in his Bench within the said time: And that if the Constable of the Tower or his Lieutenant should suffer him to escape or go at large out of the Tower, they should forfeit the sum of 40. lb. the one moiety to the King, the other to him who would sue for the same against the Constable and Lieutenant. To which Article of the Commons Petition and Bill the King assented. So as this Record and Case hath no relation at all to the Starchamber as a Court, nor yet to its Jurisdiction to punish notorious riots against any Lords of the Counsil sitting in it; but only to the * Priviledge of Parliament, their Members, and the Kings Palace, sitting Parliaments, and to the Jurisdiction of the Kings Bench to punish riots, to which this transcendent Riot was specially recommended by the Commons Petition and Impeachment, not to the Starchamber Court.

In his Chapter of Precedency. Page 360. line 24, 25. he writes. The same King created Edward of Haddam to be Earl of Richmond, and granted him precedency before all other Earls, and also created Jasper of Hatfeild Earl of Pembrock, and gave him precedency before all other Earls, next to his Brother Earl of Richmond: omitting Rot. Parl. An. 31 H. 6. nu. 50, 51. by which they were created Earls, and had this precedency given them in and by Parliament. And, Page 364. line 13, &c. He observes. In ancient time the Archbishops and Bishops had great precedency, even before the Brother of the King, as appears by the Parliament Roll of 18 E. 1. and many others; which continued till it was altered by Ordinance of Parliament in the reign of King Henry the 6, as it appears by a Roll of Parliament in that Kings reign, entred in the back of the Parliament Roll before all Dukes & Great Officers of State: but that they took place, and had precedency of them in all Parliaments and Counsils, cannot be inferred from thence.

ment Roll: Wherein, I humbly conceive, there are three mistakes: First, there is no such Parliament Roll of An. 18 E. 1. extant, as he cites, unlesse he means the Roll of Placita Parliamenti, or Petitiones Parliamenti, An. 18 E. 1. in the Treasury of the Kings Records in the Exchequer; in which I can find no evidence or proof, That our Archbishops or Bishops had then precedency of the Kings Brother. 2ly. That this their precedency continued till the reign of King Henry the 6. 3ly. That it was then altered by an Ordinance of Parliament entred in the back of the Parliament Roll. Had the Year, membrana, or number of the Parliament Roll wherein he affirms this Ordinance is entred, been mentioned by him, I could then have easily discovered the truth, or mistake therein; but that ing omitted, and I having not yet been so happy, to meet with any such Parliament Roll or Ordinance in Henry the 6. or any other Kings reign; and our most diligent searcher of all Records and Antiquities of that kind (Mr. John Selden) making no mention at all thereof in his Titles of Honour, and Chapter of Precedency, for which it was most pertinent, (as no doubt he would have done in his last Impression with large additions, had there been any such Roll extant:) I must say of it and other uncertain Records he cites, as the * Poet did in another * Ovid. Metamorph. Quod non invenit usquam, esse putat usquam; or else plead, null tiel Record, till produced in open Court to publike view.

I shall cloze up all; with St. Augustine's words and resolution, to those who have erred and been deceived by the premised, or any other misquotations of this Reverend Judge and famous Author, who hath merited eternal honour and just respect from all of his profession, (to whose memory I shall pay all deserved homage, without prejudice to truth) who probably was sometimes deceived by other mens Notes, and misquotations. † *Humanum est errare, non errare Angelicum; animositate in errore perseverare Diabolicum.
