

sonne of Aaron the chiefe prest, which was a quicke scribe in the lawe of Moyses, which the LORDE God of Israel dyd geue. And the kynge gaue him all that he requyred, accordyng to the hande of the LORDE his God vpon him.

And there wente vp certayne of the children of Israel, and of the prestes, and of the Leuites, of the syngers, of the porters, and of the Nethinims vnto Jerusalem, in the seventh year of kynge Artaxerxes. And they came to Jerusalem in the fift moneth, that is the seventh year of the kynge. For vpon the first daye of the first moneth, denyed he to go vp from Babilon: and on the first daye of the fift moneth came he to Jerusalem, accordyng to the good hande of God vpon him: For Esdras prepared his hert to seke the lawe of the LORDE, and to do it, and to teach the precepte and iudgment in Israel.

And this is the summe of the letter, that kynge Artaxerxes gaue vnto Esdras the prest, the scribe, which was a teacher in the wordes of the LORDE and of his statutes ouer Israel. Vnto Esdras the prest and scribe in the lawe of the God of heauen, peace and salutacion. I haue commaunded, that all they of the people of Israel, and of the prestes and Leuites in my realme, which are mynded of their awne good wyll to go vp to Jerusalem, that they go with the beyng sent of the kynge and of the seven lordes of the counsell, to vyset Juda and Jerusalem, accordyng to the lawe of God, which is in thy harte: And that thou shuldest take with the, syluer and golde, which the kynge and the lordes of his counsell geue of their awne good wyll vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is at Jerusalem) and all the syluer and golde that thou canst fynde in all the countre of Babilon: with it that the people and prestes geue of their awne good wil vnto the house of God at Jerusalem.

Take thou the same, and bye diligently with the same money, calues, lambes, goates, and meatofferynges and drynkofferynges, to be offred vpon the altare of the house of youre God at Jerusalem. And loke what it lyketh the and thy brethren to do with the remnant of the money, that do after the wyll of youre God. And the vessels that are geuen the for the mynistracion in the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God at Jerusalem.

And what so ever thinge more shal be necessary for the house of thy God, which is necessary for the to spende, let the same be geue out of the kynges chamber. I kynge Artaxerxes haue commaunded all the treasures beyonde the water, that loke what so euer Esdras the prest and scribe in the lawe of the God of heauen, requyeth of you, that ye fulfill the same diligently, vntill an hundred talents of syluer, and tyll an hundred quarters of wheate, and tyll an hundred bathe of wyne, and tyll an hundred bathe of oyle, and salt without measure. What so euer belongeth to the lawe of the God of heauen, let the same be done with diligence for the house of the God of heauen, that there come no wrath vpon the kynges realme and his children.

And knowe be it vnto you, that ye shall haue no auctorite to requyre taryng and custome, and yearly rentes vpon any of the prestes, Leuites, syngers, porters, Nethinims and mynisters in the house of this God. But thou Esdras (after the wysdome of the God that is in thy hande) set thou iudges and arbiters, to iudge all the people that is beyonde Jordan, euen all such as knowe the lawe of thy God: and them that knowe it not, those set that ye teache. And who so euer wyll diligently fulfill the lawe of thy God, and the kynges lawe, shall haue his iudgment for the dede, whether it be vnto death, or to be banysched, or to be condemned in good, or to be put in prison.

Praised be the LORDE God of our fathers, which so hath inspyred the kynges hert to garnyshe the house of God at Jerusalem: and hath enclyned his mercy vnto me in the presence of the kynge, and his counsell, and before all the kynges hye estates. And I was comforted (accordyng to the harte of the LORDE my God ouer me) and so gathered I the heades of Israel together, and they might go vp with me.

The VIII. Chapter.

These are the heades of their fathers that were named, which wente vp with me from Babilon, what tyme as kynge Artaxerxes reigned. Of the children of Phineas, Gerson: of the children of Jehonai, Daniel: of the children of David, Zattu: of the children of Pareos, Zachary, and the men childie nombred with him, an hundred and fiftye. Of the children of Pahath Moab, Eleonai the sonne of Serabia, and with him two hundred males.

Of the children of Sechania, the sonne of Jehasiel, and with him thre hundred males. Of the children of Adin Ebed, the sonne of Jonathan, and with him fiftie males.

Of the children of Elam, Jesaia the sonne of Achalia, and with him seventie males. Of the children of Sepharai, Sebadia the sonne of Michael, and with him fourescore males.

Of the children of Joab, Obadia the sonne of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eightene men children. Of the children of Selomith, the sonne of Josiphia, and with him an hundred and thre score males.

Of the children of Bebai, Zachary the sonne of Bebai, and with him eight and twenty males. Of the children of Bigvai, Uthai and Sabud, and with them senen males. And I gathered them together by the water that remneth towarde Athena, and there abode we thre dayes.

And whan I looked amonge the people and the prestes, I founde no Leuites there. The sent I Eliezer, Ariel, Semaia, Elathan, Jarib, Elathan, Natha, Zachary and Meshulam the rulers, and Joiarib and Elathan the teachers, and those sent I vnto Iddo the chiefe at Casiphia, that they shulde fetch us mynisters for the house of our God, and tolde them what they shulde saye vnto Iddo and to his brethren the Nethinims at Casiphia.

And (accordyng to the good hande of our God vpon us) they broughte us a wyseman from amonge the children of Maheli the sonne of Leni the sonne of Israel, euen Serebia with his sonnes and brethren, eighte. And Hasabia, and with him Jesaia of the children of Merari, with his brethren and their sonnes, twentye. And of the Nethinims, whom David and the princes gaue to mynister vnto the Leuites, two hundred and twentye, all named by name.

And euen there at the water besyde Athena, caused I a fastinge to be proclaimed, that we might humble oure selues before our God, to seke of him a righte waye for us, and our children and all our substance. For I was ashamed to require of the kynge, soldiers and horsmen, to helpe us agaynst the enemye in the waye. For we had sayde vnto the kynge: The hande of our God is for the best vpon all them that seke him, and his violence and wrath vpon all them that forsake him. So we fasted, and soughte this at our God, and he herde us.

And I toke out twelue of the chiefe pres-tes, Serebia and Hasabia, and ten of their brethren with them, and weyed them there the syluer and golde and vessels for the heue offeringe vnto the house of our God, which the kynge, and the lordes of his counsell and prynces, and all Israel that were at hande, had geuen to the heue offeringe: and there weyed I them vnder their hande sixe hundred and fiftye talents of syluer, and in syluer vessell an hundred talents, and in golde an hundred talents, twentye cuppes of golde of a thousande guldens, and two costly ornamentes of good brasse, as cleare as golde, and sayde vnto them: Ye are holy vnto the LORDE, therfore are the vessels holy also, and so is the syluer and golde that is geuen of a good wyll vnto the LORDE God of youre fathers: Watch ye therfore and kepe it, tyll ye weye it downe before the chiefe prestes and Leuites, and auncient fathers of Israel at Jerusalem in the chestes of the house of the LORDE. Then toke the prestes and Leuites that weyed syluer and golde and vessell, to bryng it to Jerusalem vnto the house of our God.

So we brake vp, from the water of Athena on the twelveth daye of the first moneth, to go vnto Jerusalem: and the hande of our God was vpon us, and deliuered us fro the hande of the enemies and preuy waytinges by the waye. And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there thre dayes. But on the fourth daye was the syluer and golde, and vessell weyed in the house of our God vnder the hande of Meremoth the sonne of Urias the prest, and with him Eleasar the sonne of Phineas, and with them Josabad the sonne of Jesua, and Noabia the sonne of Benui the Leuites, accordyng to the nombre and weight of every one. And the weight was all wrytten vp at the sametyme.

And the children of the captiuyte, which were come out of prison, offred burnt offeringes vnto the God of Israel: twelue bullockes for all Israel, sixe and nyntye rammes, seven and seventye lambes, and twelue goates for a synofferyng, all to the burnt offeringe of the LORDE. And they deliuered the kynges commissioun vnto the kynges officers, and to the Debytes on this syde the water. And they promoted the people and the house of God.

The IX. Chapter.

Whan all this was performed, the rulers came to me, and sayde: The people of Israel, and the prestes, and Leuites are not separated from the nations.

in the londes as touching their abhominacions, namely of the Cananites, Hethites, Pherefites, Jebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egipcians, and Amorites. For they haue taken the daughters of the same, & their sonnes, and haue myrte the holy sede with synacions in the londes: and the hande of the rulers and lordes of counsell hath bene prin cipall in this trespase.

Whan I herde this, I rente my clothes and my rayment, and plucked out the heer of my heade and of my beard, and sat mournynge. And there resorted vnto me all such as feared the worde of the LORDE God of Israel because of the greate transgression. And I sat mournynge vntill the euenynge sacrifice. And aboute the euenynge sacrifice I rose vp fro my heuynes, and rente my clothes and my raiment, and fell vpon my knees, and spred out my handes vnto the LORDE my God, and sayde:

My God, I am ashamed, and darre not lifte vp mine eyes vnto the my God: for oure wickednesses are growne ouer oure heade, & oure trespases are woren greate vnto y heaue. Sence the tyme of oure fathers haue we bene in greate trespase vnto this daie, and because of oure wickednesses haue we and kynges bene deliuered in to the hande of kynges of the nacions, in to the swerde, in to captiuite, in to spoyle, and in to confusion of face, as it is come to passe this daie.

But now is there a litle and sodane graciousnes come from the LORDE oure God, so that some of vs are escaped, that he maie geue vs a nayle in his holy place, that oure God maye lighte oure eyes, and geue vs a litle lyfe in oure bondage. For we are bondmen, and God hath not forsake vs though we be bondmen, and hath enclined mercy vnto vs in the sighte of the kynges of Persia, that they shulde geue vs lyfe, and promote the house of oure God, and to sett vp the desolacion therof, and to geue vs an hed ge in Juda and Jerusalem.

O oure God, what shal we saye now after this? that we haue forsaken thy commandementes, which thou hast commaunded by thy seruantes the prophetes, and saide: The londe wherin ye shal come to possesse it, is an vnclane londe thorow the fylthines of the people of the londes, in their abhominacions wherwith they haue made it full of vnclannes on every syde. Therefore shal ye not geue youre daughters vnto their sonnes, and their daughters shal ye not take vnto youre sonnes, and sette not their pea ce and welch for ever, that ye maye be stronge, and enioye the good in the londe, and ye and youre children maye haue the inheritance of it for evermore.

And after all this that is come vpon vs (because of oure euell dedes and greate trespase) thou oure God hast spared oure wickednesses, and hast genen vs a deliuerance as it is come to passe.

As for vs, we haue turned backe, & haue let go thy commandementes, to make contracte with the people of these abhominacions. Wilt thou then be wroth at vs, till we be utterly consumed, so that nothyng remaine, and till there be no deliuerance? O LORDE God of Israel, thou art righteous, for we remaine yet escaped, as it is this daie. Beholde, in thy presence are we in oure trespase, for because of it is there no standinge before the.

The X. Chapter.

Whan Esdras prayed after this maner and knowleged, wepte, and laie before the house of God, there resorted vnto him out of Israel a very greate congregacion of men and women, and children: the people wepte very sore. And Sachania the sonne of Jehiel one of the children of Elam, answered, and sayde vnto Esdras: We haue trespassed agaynst the LORDE oure God, in that we haue taken straunge wyues of all the people of the londe. Now there is hope yet in Israel concerninge this, therefore let vs make a couenaunt now with oure God, that we shal put awaye all the wyues (and such as are borne of them) acordinge to the counsell of y LORDE, and of them that feare the commandement of oure God, y we maye do acordinge to the lawe. Get the vp therfore, for the matter belongeth vnto the. We wyll be with the, be of good comfort, and do it.

Then rose Esdras, and toke an othe of the rulers, prestes and Leuites, and of all Israel, that they shulde do acordinge to this worde: and they swore. And Esdras stode vp before the house of God, and wente in to the chamber of Johanan the sonne of Elisab. And whan he came thither, he akened a bryd, and dranke no water: for he mourned because of the transgression of them that had bene in captiuite.

And they caused a proclamacion be made thorow out Juda and Jerusalem, vnto all the children which had bene in captiuite, that they shulde gather them selues together vnto Jerusalem: And that who soeuer came out within thre dayes acordinge to the denyce of the rulers and Elders, all his substance shulde be forfett, and he put out from the congregacion of the captiue.

Then all the men of Juda and Ben Jamin gathered them selues together vnto Jerusalem in thre dayes, & is on the twentieth daie of the nyenth moneth: and all the people sat in the strete before the house of God, and trembled because of the matter, and for the rayne. And Esdras & prest stode vp, and sayde vnto them: Ye haue transgressed, & ye haue taken straunge wyues, to make the trespase of Israel yet more: confesse now therfore vnto y LORDE God of youre fathers, & do his pleasure, and separate youre selues from the people of the londe, & from y straunge wyues. The answered all the congregacion, & sayde with loude voyce: Let it be done as thou hast sayde. But the people are many, & it is a raynye wether, & they can not stode here without, nether is this a worke of one daie or two, for we are many & haue offended in this transgression. Let vs appoynte oure rulers therfore in all the congregacion, & all they which haue taken straunge wyues in oure cities, maye come at the tyme appoynted, and the Elders of every cite and their Judges with them, till the wrath of oure God because of this matter be turned awaye from vs.

Then were appoynted Jonathan the sonne of Asahel & Jehasia the sonne of Thecua ouer this matter. And Nesullam and Sabai the Leuites helped them. And the children of the captiuite dyd even so. And Esdras the prest, and y auuncient fathers thorow the house of their fathers, and all that were now rehearsed by name, separated the selues, and sat them downe on the first daie of the tenth moneth, to examine this matter. And on y first daie of y first moneth broughte they the matter to a conclusion, concernynge all the men & had take straunge wyues.

And amonge the childre of the prestes there were men founde & had take straunge wyues, namely amonge the children of Jesua the sonne of Josede & of his brethren, Maeseia, Elieser, Jarib and Godolia. And they gaue their handes there vpon, that they wolde put awaye their wyues: & for their trespase offerynge to geue a rāme for their trespase. Amonge the children of Immer, Janani & Sabadia, amonge the childre of Harim, Maeseia, Elia, Semaia, Jehiel, and Ofia. Amonge y children of Paslur, Elioenai, Maeseia, Ismael, Methaneel, Josabad & Eleasa. Amonge ge the Leuites, Josabad, Simeai and Celaia, he is that Celita, Perhabia, Juda & Eleasar. Amonge the syngers, Elyasib. Amonge the porters, Sallum, Telm and Uri.

Of Israel. Amonge the children of Pareos, Ramia, Jesia, Malchia, Metamin, Eleasar, Malchia & Benai. Amonge y children of Elam, Mathania, Zachary, Jehiel, Abdy, Jeremoth & Elia. Amonge the children of Sathu, Elioenai, Eliaf, Mathania, Jeremoth, Sabad & Asifa. Amonge the children of Debai, Johanan, Janania, Sabai & Achlai. Amonge the children of Bani, Nesullam, Mailuch, Adaia, Jasub, Seal and Jeremoth. Amonge the children of Parbath Moab, Adna, Chelal, Benai, Maesea, Mathania, Bezaleel, Benui and Manasse. Amonge the children of Harim, Elieser, Jesia, Malchia, Semaia, Simeon, Be Jamin, Mailuch & Samaria. Amonge the childre of Hasum, Mathnai, Mathatha, Sabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasse & Simeai. Amonge the childre of Bani, Maedai, Amram, Zuel, Benai, Bedia, Chelui, Naia, Jeremoth, Eliaf, Mathania, Mathnai, Jaesau, Bani, Benui, Simeai, Selemia, Nathan, Adaia, Nachnadbai, Sasai, Sarai, Asareel, Selemia, Samaria, Sallum, Amaria, & Joseph. Amonge the childre of Nebo, Zeiel, Mathithia, Sabad, Sebina, Jeddai, Joel, and Benai. All these had taken straunge wyues. And amonge the same wyues there were some, that had borne children.

The first Chapter.

These are the actes of Nehemias the sonne of Achabiah. It fortuned in the moneth Chisleu in the twetieth yere, that I was in the castell at Susa: and Hanani one of my brethren came with certayne me of Juda, and I axed them how the Jewes dyd that were deluyered and escaped from the captivite, and how it wente at Jerusalem. And they sayde vnto me: The remnant of the captivite are there, in the londe in greate myffortune and rebuke. The walles of Jerusalem are broken downe, and the portes therof are brent with fyre.

Whan I herde these wordes, I sat me downe and wepte, and mourned two dayes, and fasted and prayed before the God of heauen, and sayde: O LORD God of heauen, thou greete and terri-le God, * thou hast kept covenant and mercy for them that love the, and observe thy commaundementes: let thine eares marke, and let thine eyes be open, and thou mayest heare the prayer of thy servaunt, which I praye now before thy face daye and nyghte for the children of Israel thy servautes, and knowlege the synnes of the children of Israel, which we have commytted agaynst the.

 And I and my fathers house have sinned also. We have bene corrupte vnto the, in that we have not kept the commaundementes, statutes and lawes, which thou commaundedst thy servaunt Moses. Yet call to remembraunce thy worde that thou commaundedst thy servaunt Moses, and saydest: * If ye transgresse, then wil I scatter you abroad amonge the nacions. But if ye turne vnto me, and kepe my commaundementes and do them: though ye were cast out vnto the uttermost parte of heauen yet wil I gather you from thence, and wil bringe you from thence, eue vnto the place, that I have chosen for my name to dwell there. They are thy servautes, and thy people, whom thou hast deluyered thowm thy greate power and myghtie hande. O LORD, let thine eares marke the prayer of thy servaunt, and the prayer of thy servautes, whose desire is to feare thy name, and let thy servaunt prosper this daye, and graunte him mercy in the sight of this man: for I was the kynges butler.

The II. Chapter.

In the moneth Nisan of the twentieth yere of the kyng Artaxerxes, whan the wyne stode before him, I toke up the wyne, and gaue it vnto the kyng, and I was heny in his presence. Then sayde the kyng vnto me: Why lokest thou so sadly? Thou art not sicke, that is not thy matter, but thou art heny harted. Neuertheles I was sorrowed, and sayde vnto the kyng: God sanctifie thynges life for ever, shulde I not loke sadly: the cite of my fathers buryall lyeth wayest, and the portes therof are consumed with the fyre. Then sayde the kyng vnto me: What is thy request? Then made I my prayer to the God of heauen, and sayde vnto the kyng: If it please the kyng, and if thy servaunt be favoured in thy sight, I beseeke the sende me in to Juda vnto the cite of my fathers buryall, that I maye buylde it.

And the kyng sayde vnto me, and so dyd the quene, and sat by him: How longe shal thy journey continue, and whan wilt thou come agayne? And it pleased the kyng to sende me, and I set him a tyme, and sayde vnto the kyng: If it please the kyng, let him geue me letters to the Debites beyonde the water, and they maye conueye me over, tyll I come in to Juda: and letters vnto Asaph the lord of the kynges wood, and he maye geue me wood for baltes to the gates of the palace, which are harden the house and harde on the walles of the cite, and for the house that I shal entre in to. And the kyng gaue me accordinge to the good hande of God vnto me. And whan I came to the Debites beyonde the water, I gaue them the kynges letters. And the kyng sent captaynes and horsmen with me.

But whan Sanballath the Horonite, and Tobias the servaunt of the Ammonites heard of this, they greued them sore, and there was comen a man which soughte the welch of the children of Israel. And whan I came to Jerusalem, and had bene there thre daies, I gat me up in the night season, and a fewe men with me, for I tolde no man what God had geuen in my hert to do at Jerusalem: and there was not one beest with me, save it that I rode vpon. And I rode by nyghte vnto the valley porte before the Dragon well, and to the Dongporte, and considered the walles of Jerusalem that were broken downe, and the portes therof consumed with the fyre. And I wente ouer vnto the wall porte, and to the kynges condyte, and there was no rowme for my beest, and it coulde go vnder me. Then wote I on in the nyghte by the brokesyde, and considered the wall, and turned back, and came home agayne to the valley porte.

And the rulers knewe not whither I wote, or what I dyd: for hither to had I not tolde the Jewes and the prestes, the counsellors and the rulers, and the ocher that laboured in the worke, and I tolde vnto the: Ye see the myserye that we are in, how Jerusalem lyeth wayest, and how the gates therof are brent with fyre, come, let vs buylde up the walles of Jerusalem, and we be nomore a rebuke. And I tolde the of the good hande of my God which was vnto me: And the kynges wordes that he had spokē vnto me. And they said: Then let vs get vp. And we buylde, and their handes were strenghted to good.

But whan Sanballath the Horonite, and Tobias the servaunt of the Ammonites, and some of the Arabian herde it, they laughed vs to scorne, and despised vs, and sayde: What is this that ye do? Wyll ye fall awaye agayne from the kyng? Then answered I them, and sayde: The God of heauen shal cause vs to prosper: for we his servautes are gotten up, and are buyldinge. As for you, ye haue no porcion nor right, nor remembraunce in Jerusalem.

The III. Chapter.

And Eliasib the hye prest gat him vp with his brethren the prestes, and buylde the Shepegate. They halowed it, and set up the doores of it: euen vnto the tower Mea halowed they it, namely vnto the tower of Hananeel. Nexte vnto him buylde the men of Jericho. And besyde him buylde Sachur the sonne of Imri. But the Synagoge dyd the children of Sena buylde, they couered it, and set on the doores, lockes and barres of it. Nexte vnto him buylde Meremoth the sonne of Uriah the sonne of Hacoz. Nexte vnto him buylde Mesullam the sonne of Barachias the sonne of Mesabeel. Nexte vnto him buylde Sadoc the sonne of Baena. Nexte vnto him buylde they of Thecoa. But their greate me put not their neckes to the seruyce of their lordes.

The Oldgate buylde Joiada the sonne of Passah, and Mesullam the sonne of Besodia: they couered it, and set on the doores, lockes and barres of it. Nexte vnto them buylde Melachia of Gibeon, and Jadon of Morono, me of Gibeon and of Mispa, for the feate of the Debyte on this syde the water. Nexte vnto him buylde Ussiel the sonne of Harhaia the goldsmith. Nexte vnto him buylde Hanania the Apotecarys sonne, and they repayred Jerusalem vnto the brode wall. Nexte vnto him buylde Rephaia the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe quarter of Jerusalem. Nexte vnto him buylde Jedaias the sonne of Harumaph, ouer agaynst his house. Nexte vnto him buylde Sattus the sonne of Hasabema. But Malchia the sonne of Harim, and Hasub the sonne of Pahath Moab buylde the other pece, and the tower beside the fornace. Nexte vnto him buylde Sallum the sonne of Halobes the ruler of the halfe quarter of Jerusalem, and his daughters.

The valley gate buylde Hanan, and the cisternes of Sanoah. They buylde it, and set on the doores, lockes and barres therof, and a thousande cubytes on the wall, vnto the Dongeporte. But the Dongeporte buylde Malchia the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth parte of the vynyardes: he buylde it, and set on the doores, lockes and barres therof. But the Wellgate buylde Sallum the sonne of Chalkose, the ruler of the fourth parte of Mispa: he buylde it, and couered it, and set on the doores, lockes, and barres therof, and the wall vnto the pole of Sybah by the kynges garden, vnto the steppes that go downe from the cite of David. After him buylde Nehemia the sonne of Asbani, the ruler of the halfe quarter of Bethzur, vntyll the other side ouer agaynst the sepulchres of David, and to the pole Mispa, and vnto the house of the mightie.

After him buylde the Leuites, Rehun the sonne of Bani. Nexte vnto him buylde Hasabiah the ruler of the halfe quarter at Regila in his quarter. After him buylde their brethren, Banai the sonne of Henadab, the ruler of the halfe quarter of Segila. After him buylde Esar the sonne of Iesua the ruler of Mispa, the other pece hard ouer agaynst the Harnesse corner. After him buylde Barna the sonne of Sabai the other pece worshipfully and costly, fro the corner vnto the doore of the house of Eliasib the hye prest. After him buylde Meremoth the sonne of Uriah the sonne of Hacoz the other pece, fro the doore of Eliasibs house, vnto the ende of the house of Eliasib. After him buylde the prestes, the me of the countre. After him buylde Ben Jamin and Hasub ouer agaynst their house. After the buylde Asaria the sonne of Maaseia the sonne of Anania nexte vnto his house. After him buylde Benui the sonne of Henadab the other pece, from the house of Asaria
