And God sayde: let there be light, & there was light. And God sawe the light that it was good. Then God deuyned & light from he darcknes, and called the light, Daye: and the darcknes, Night. Then of the euerynge and moynge was made the first daye.

And God sayde: let there be a firmament betwene the waters, and let it deuyned & was ters a sinder. Then God made & firmamēt, and parted the waters vnder the firmamēt, from the waters aboue the firmament: And so it came to passe. And God called & firma ment, Heauen. Then of the euerynge & moe nyng was made the seconde daye.

And God sayde: let the waters vnder hea uen gather the selues vnto one place, & the drye londe maye appere. And so it came to passe. And God called & drye londe, Earth: and the gatheringe together of waters cal led he, y See. And God sawe & it was good.

it was good. Then of the euenynge & mornyng was made the thirde daye.

Psal. 133. a And God sayde: let there be lightes in y firmament of heauen, to deuide the daye fro the night, that they maye be vnto toles, seasons, dayes, and yeres. And let them be lightes in y firmament of heauen, to shyne vpon the earth: And so it came to passe. And God made two great lightes: one greater light to rule the daye, and a lesse light to rule the night, and he made starres also. And God set them in the firmament of heauen, & they might shyne vpon earth, and to rule the daye and the night, and to deuide the lighte from darknes. And God sawe that it was good.
Then of the euenynge and mornynge was made the fourth daye.

4. Ecl. 5. c And God sayde: let the waters brynge forth creatures that moue and haue life, & foules for to flye aboue the earth vnder the firmament of heauen. And God created greate whalles, and all maner of creatures that lyue and moue, which the waters brought forth every one after his kynde: and all maner of feathered foules, every one after his kynde. And God sawe that it was good, and blessed them, sayinge: Growe, and multiplie, and fyll the waters of the sees, and let the foules multiplie vpon the earth. Then of the euenynge and mornynge was made the fifth daye.

And God sayde: let y earth brynge forth lyuynge foules, every one after his kynde: ca-tell, woumes & what as hath life vpon earth, every one after his kynde. And so it came to passe. And God made y beastes of the earth every one after his kynde, and catell after their kynde, and all maner woumes of the earth after their kynde. And God sawe that it was good.

D And God sayde: let vs make man in o^r similitude after oure likenesse, that he maye haue rule ouer the fysh of the see, and ouer the foules vnder y heauen, and ouer catell, and ouer all the earth, and ouer all woumes that crepe on y earth. And God created man after his likenesse: after y likenesse of God created he him, male & female created he them.

Iere. 29. b And God blessed them, and sayde vnto them: Growe, and multiplie, and fyll the earth, and subdue it, & haue domynion ouer the fysh of the see, and ouer the foules of the ayre, and ouer all the beastes that crepe vpon the earth.

Psal. 103. b maner herbes that beare sede vpon the whole earth, and all maner fructifull trees that beare sede, to be meate for you. And to all beastes of the earth, and to all foules vnder the heauen, and to every wombe that hath life (vpon earth) all maner grene herbes to ea-te. And so it came to passe. And God behel-de all y he had made, and lo, they were exceedinge good. Then of the euenynge and mornyng was made the sixte daye.

The seconde Chapter.
D Thus was heauē and earth fynished with all their hoost, and thus in the seuenth daye God ended his worke, which he had made, & rested in the seuenth daye from all his workes which he had made: And blessed the seuenth daye, & sanctified it, because y in it he rested from all his wor-kes, which God created and made.

These are the generacions of heauē and earth whan they were created, in the tyme whan the LORDE God made heauen and earth: before there was eny trovygg vpon earth, and or euer there grew eny grene her-be vpon the felde. For the LORDE God had yet sent no rayne vpon y earth, nether was there eny man to tylle the earth. But there arose a myst from the earth, & watered all the londe. And y LORDE God shopen man out of the mould of the earth, & brethed in to his face y breth of life. And so was man made a lyuynge soule.

The LORDE God also planted a garden of pleasure in Eden, towarde y east, and set man therein whom he had made. And the LORDE God caused to sprynge out of the earth all maner trees, pleasaunt to loke vpon, and good to eate: and the tre of life in the myddest of the garden, and the tre of knowlege of good and euell.

And out of Eden there wente a ryuer, to water the garden, and there deuyled it selfe in to foure heade waters. The first is called Physon, which renneth aboute all the londe of Henuyl. And there is founde golde, & the golde of that countre is precious, and there is founde Bedellion, and the precious stone Onix. The second water is called Gihon, which runneth aboute the whole londe of y Moiaas. The thirde water is called Hydectell, which runneth towarde the east syde of y Assiriaas. The fourth water is Euphrates.

And the LORDE God toke man, & set him in the pleasaunt garden of Eden, to dresse it & to kepe it. And the LORDE God commaunded man, sayinge: Thou shalt eate of all maner trees in y garden: But of y tre of knowlege of good and euell, shalt thou not eate.

For loke in what daye so euer thou eatest therof, thou shalt dye the death.

And the LORDE God sayde: It is not good y mā shulde be alone. I wil make him an helpe, & to beare him cōpany. And whan God the LORDE had made of the earth all maner beastes of the felde, & all maner foules vnder the heauē, he brought them vnto man, to se what he wolde call the: For as mā called all maner of liuinge foules, so are their names. And man gaue names vnto all maner catell, & vnto the foules vnder the heauē, and vnto all maner beastes of y felde. But vnto man there was founde no helpe, to beare him company.

Then the LORDE God caused an herbe slepe to fall vpon man, and he slepte. And he toke out one of his rybbes, and (in steade therof) he filled vp y place with flesh. And the LORDE God made a woman, of y rybbe that he toke out of man, and brought her vnto him. Then sayde man: This is once bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh. She shalbe called woman, because she was takē of man. For this cause shal a man leaue father and mother, and cleue vnto his wife, & they two shalbe one flesh. And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

The iii. Chapter.

D And the serpent was slyer then all the beastes of the felde, which y LOR

2. Cor. 11. 2 DE God had made) and sayde vnto the woman: Yee, hath God sayde in dede: Ye shall not eate of all maner trees in the garden:
Then sayde the woman vnto the serpent:
We eate of the frute of the trees in the garden: But as for the frute of the tre that is in the myddes of the garden, God hath sayde: Eate not ye of it, and touch it not, lest ye dye.

Then saide the serpent vnto the woman: Yush, ye shall not dye the death. For God doth knowe, that in what daye so euer ye ea-te of it, youre eyes shalbe opened, and ye shal be as God, and knowe both good and euell.
And the woman sawe that y tre was good to eate of, and lustye vnto the eyes, and a pleasaunt tre: & to make wyse, and toke of the frute of it, and ate, and gaue vnto hir husbande also therof, and he ate. Then were the eyes of them both opened, and they perceaued that they were naked, and sowed fygge leaues together, and made them apurns.

And they herde the voyce of the L O R-DE God, which walked in the garden in the coole of the daye. And Adam hyd him self with his wyse, from the presence of y LOR-DE God amonge the trees of the garden.
And y LORDE God called Adam, and sayde vnto him: Where art thou? And he saide: I herde thy voyce in the garden, and was afrayed, because I am naked, and therefore I hyd myself. And he sayde: who tolde the, that thou art naked? Hast thou not eaten of the tre, wherof I commaunded the, y thou shuldest not eate?

Then sayde Adam: The woman, which thou gauest me (to beare me comp any) gaue me of the tre, and I ate. And the LORDE God sayde vnto the woman: wherfore hast thou done this? The woman sayde: the serpent diseaued me so, that I ate. Then sayde the LORDE God vnto the serpent: Because thou hast done this, cursed be thou aboue all catell and aboue all beastes of the felde.
Upon thy bely shalt thou go, & earth shalt thou eate all the dayes of thy life. And I wyll put enemye betwene the and the woman, and betwene y sede and hir sede. The same shal treade downe thy heade, and thou shalt treade him on the hele.

And vnto the woman he sayde: I will increase thy sorrow, whan thou art with childe: with payne shalt thou beare thy childre, and thy lust shal perrayne vnto y husban-de, and he shal rule the.

And vnto Adam he sayde: For so much as thou hast done, thou shalt be cursed a y

thou hast hearkened vnto the voyce of thy wyse, and hast eaten of the tre, wherof I commaunded the, sayenge: thou shalt not eate of it. Cursed be y^e earth for thy sake. With sorowe shalt thou eate therof, all the dayes of thy life. Thornes and thistles shalt it beare vnto the, and thou shalt eate the herbes of the felde. In the sweate of thy face shalt thou eate thy bred, tyll thou be turned agayne vnto earth, whence thou art take: for earth thou art, and vnto earth shalt thou be turned agayne.

And Adam called his wyse Hena, because she is the mother of all luyng. And the LORDE God made Adam & his wyse garments of skynnes, & these he put on them. And the LORDE God sayde: lo, Adam is become as it were one of vs, & knoweth good & euell. But now lest he stretch his hande, and take also of the tre of life, and eate, and lyeue for ever. Then the LORDE God put him out of the garden of Eden, to tyll y^e earth, wher he was take. And he cast Adam out. And before the garden of Eden he set Cherubes, and a naked syre swerde, to kepe y^e waye vnto the tre of life.

The iij. Chapter.

Grower Adam laye with Hena his wyse, which conceaued & bare Cain, and sayde, I haue opeyned y^e man of the LORDE. And she proceeded forth, & bare his brother Abell. And Abell became a shepherde, but Cain became an husbände man.

And it fortuneth after certayne daies, that Cain brought of the frute of the earth, an offryng vnto y^e LORDE. And Abell brought also of the firstlinges of his shepe, and of y^e fat of them. And the LORDE had respecte vnto Abell and to his offeryng: but vnto Cain and his offeryng he looked not. Then was Cain exceeding wroth, and his countenance chaunged. And the LORDE sayde vnto Cain: Why art thou angrie? and why doth thy countenance chaunge? Is it not so: that yf thou do well, thou shalt receaue it: but and yf thou do euell, thy synne lyeth open in the doore? Shal he then be subdued vnto the? and wilt thou rule him? And Cain talked with Abell his brother.

And it happened, that whan they were in the felde, Cain arose agaynst Abell his brother, and slew him. Then sayde the LORDE vnto Cain: Where is Abell thy brother? He sayde: I can not tell. Am I my brothers keeper? And he sayde: What hast thou done? The voyce of thy brothers bloude crieth vnto me out of the earth. And now shalt thou be cursed vpon the earth, which hath opened hir mouth, and receaued thy brothers bloude of thine hande. Whan thou tyllest y^e ground, she shall hensforth not geue hir power vnto the. A vagabunde and a rennagate shalt thou be vpon y^e earth. And Cain sayde vnto y^e LORDE: my synne is greater, then that it maye be forgiven me. Beholde, thou castest me out this daye from out of y^e lande, and from y^e sight must I hyde myself, and must be a vagabunde and a rennagate vpon y^e earth. And thus shal it go with me: that who so fyndeth me, shal slaye me.

But the LORDE sayde thus vnto him: Who so euer slayeth Cain, it shalbe auenged sevenfold. And the LORDE put a marke vpon Cain, that no man which founde him, shulde kyll him. So Cain wente out from y^e face of the LORDE, and dwelt in the lande Nod, vpon the east syde of Eden.

And Cain laye with his wyse, which conceived and bare Henoche. And he buylded a cite, and called it after the name of his sonne Henoche. And Henoche begat Irad, Irad begat Mahuial. Mahuial begat Mathusael. Mathusael begat Lamech.

And Lamech toke him two wyues: y^e one was called Ada, & the other Zilla. And Ada bare Jabel, of whom came they that dwelt in tentes and had catell. And his brothers name was Jubail: Of him came they that occupied harpes & pypes. And Zilla she also bare Tubalcain, a worker in all connynges poyntes of metall & yron. And Tubalcains sister was called Naama.

And Lamech sayde vnto his wyues Ada and Zilla: Heare my voyce (ye wyues of Lamech) and hearken vnto my wordes: for I haue slayne a man, and wounded myselfe; and (haue kylled) a yongeman, and gotten myself stripes. Cain shalbe auenged seven tymes: but Lamech seven and seuentie tymes.

Adam laye yet with his wyse agayne, & she bare a sonne, and called him Seth. For God (sayde she) hath apointed me another sede, for Abell, whom Cain slew. And Seth begat a sonne also, and called him Enos. At the sametyme beganne men to call vpon the name of the LORDE.

The V. Chapter.

This is the boke of the generacion of man, in the tyme whan God created man, and made him after the similitude of God. Male and female made he them, and blessed the, & called their names Man, in the tyme whan they were created. And Adam was an hundred and thirtie yeare olde, and begat a sonne, which was like his owne ymage, and called his name Seth: & luyed thereafter eight hundred yeare, and begat sonnes and daughters. And his whole age was nyne hundred and thirtie yeares, and so he dyed.

Seth was an hundred and fyue yeare olde, and begat Enos: & luyed thereafter eight hundred and seven yeare, and begat sonnes and daughters. And his whole age was nyne hundred and twelue yeares, and so he dyed.

Enos was nyentie yeare olde, and begat Kenan: and luyed thereafter eight hundred & systene yeare, and begat sonnes & daughters. And his whole age was nyne hundred and fyue yeares, and so he dyed.

Kenan was seuentie yeare olde, and begat Mahalaliel: and luyed thereafter eight hundred and fourtie yeare, and begat sonnes & daughters. And his whole age was nyne hundred and ten yeares, and so he dyed.

Mahalaliel was thre score yeare olde & fyue, and begat Jared: and luyed thereafter eight hundred and thirtie yeare, and begat sonnes and daughters. And his whole age was eight hundred, nyentie and fyue yeares, and so he dyed.

Jared was an hundred and two & sixtie yeare olde, and begat Henoche: & luyed thereafter eight hundred yeare, and begat sonnes & daughters. And his whole age was nyne hundred and two and sixtie yeare, and so he dyed.

Henoche was fyue and thre score yeare olde, and begat Mathusalah: and led a godly conuersacion thre hundred yeares thereafter, and begat sonnes & daughters. And his whole age was thre hundred and fyue and thre score yeares. And for so moch as he luyed a godly life, God toke him awaye, & he was nomore sene.

Mathusalah was an hundred & seue and foure score yeare olde, & begat Lamech: and luyed thereafter seven hundred and two and foure score yeare, and begat sonnes & daughters. And his whole age was nyne hundred and nyne and tre score yeares, and so he dyed.

Lamech was an hundred and two and foure score yeare olde, and begat a sonne, & called him Noe, and sayde: This same shall cosorte vs in oure workes, and in the sorowe of oure bondes vpon the earth, which the LORDE hath cursed. After this he luyed fyue hundred and fyue & nyentie yeare, and begat sonnes and daughters. And his whole age was seven hundred seven and seuentie yeares, and so he dyed.

Noe was fyue hundred yeare olde, and begat Sem, Ham and Japhet.

The VI. Chapter.

Whan men beganne to multiplie vpon the earth, and had begot them daughters, the children of God sawe the daughters of men, that they were fayre, and toke vnto the wyues soch as they liked. Then sayde y^e LORDE: My spere shal not allwaye stryue with man, for he is but flesh also. I wil yet geue him respyte an hundred and twety yeares. There were giants also in the worlde at that tyme. For whan the children of God had lyeu with the daughters of men, and begotten them children, y^e same (children) became mightie in the worlde, and men of renoune.

But whan the LORDE sawe y^e wickednes of man was increased, vpon y^e earth, and that all y^e thought and imaginacion of their hert was but onely euell continually, it repented him, that he had made man vpon the earth, and he sorowed in his hert, and sayde: I wyll destroye man kynde which I haue made, from the earth: both man, best, worne, and foule vnder the heauen: for it repented me, that I haue made them. Neuer theles Noe founde grace in the sight of the LORDE.

This is y^e generacion of Noe. Noe was a righteous and perfecte man, and led a godly life in his tyme, and begat thre sonnes: Sem, Ham and Japhet. Norwithstandinge y^e earth was corrupte in y^e sight of God, and full of myschefe. Then God looked vpon y^e earth: and lo, it was corrupte (for all flesh had corrupte his waye vpon the earth.)

Then sayde God vnto Noe: Then ende of all flesh is come before me, for the earth is full of myschefe before them. And lo, I wyll destroye them with the earth. Make the an Arcke of pyne tre, and make chambers in it, and pitch it within and without with pitch and make it after this fashion: The length shal be thre hundred cubites, the bredth fiftie cubites, and the heyghe thirtie cubites. A wyndow shalt thou make aboue of a cubyte greate: but the doore shalt thou set in the myddest in the syde of it: And the Arke shalt thou make with thre loftes one aboue another. For lo, I will bringe a floude of water vpon the earth, to destroye all flesh (wherin the breth of life is) vnder the heauen: All that is vpon earth, shal perishe.

D But with the wyll I make a couenaunt, and thou shalt go in to the Arke with thy sonnes, with thy wyse, and with thy sonnes wyues. And of all creatures what so ever flesh it be, thou shalt bringe into the Arke, euen a payre: the male and the female, that they maye lyue wth the. Of foules after their kynde, of bestes after their kynde, and of all maner wormes of the earth after their kinde. Of every one of these shal there a payre go in vnto the, that they maye lyue. And thou shalt take vnto the all maner of meate that maye be eaten, and shalt laye it vp in store by the, that it maye be meate for the and them. And Noe dyd accordinge to all that God commaunded him.

The VII. Chapter.

A And γ LORDE sayde vnto Noe: Go in to the Arke thou & thy whole house: for the haue I sene righteous before me at this tyme. Of all cleane bestes take vnto the seven and seven, the male and his female. And of vncleane bestes a payre, the male and his female. Like wyse of the foules vnder the heauen, seven and seven, the male and his female, that there maye be sene left a lyue vpon the whole earth.

For yet after seven dayes, I wil sende raine vpon the earth fourtie dayes and fourtie nightes, and wyll destroye all maner of thynges that I haue made, from of the face of the earth.

And Noe dyd all that the LORDE commaunded him. Sire hūdieth yere olde was he, whan the water floude came vpon earth. And he wente in to the Arke, with his sonnes, his wyse, and his sonnes wyues, for the waters of the floude. Of cleane bestes and of vncleane, of all fethered foules, & of all that crepeth vpon earth, wente in vnto him to the Arke by paires, a male and a female, as γ LORDE comaunded him. And whan the seven dayes were past, the water floude came vpon the earth.

In the sixe hundred yere of Noes age, vpon the seuentene daye of the seconde moneth, that same daye were all γ fountaynes of the greate depe broken vp, and the wyndowes of heauen were opened, and there came a rayne vpon γ earth fourtie dayes and fourtie nightes.

Vpon the selfe same daye were Noe into the Arke, with Sem, Ham and Japhet his sonnes, and with his wyse, and the thre wyues of his sonnes, and all maner of bestes after their kynde, all maner of catell after their kynde, all maner of crepyng thinges (that crepe vpo the earth) after their kynde, and all maner of foules (what so ever coude flye & what so ever had fethers) after their kynde: These wente all vnto Noe in to the Arke by coopes, of all flesh in whom was the breth of life. And these were the male & the female of all maner of flesh, and wente in, accordinge as God commaunded him. And the LORDE shut (the doore) vpon him.

Then came the water floude fourtie dayes vpon the earth, and the water increased, and bare vp the Arke, and lift it vp ouer γ earth. Thus the water preuayled, and increased soire vpon the earth, so that the Arke wente vpon the waters. And the waters preuayled and increased soire vpon earth, that all the hye mountaynes vnder the whole heauen were couered. Systene cubytes hye preuayled γ waters ouer the mountaynes, which were couered.

Then all flesh that crepte vpon earth, perished, both foules, catell, bestes, and all γ moved vpon earth, and all men. What so ever had the breth of life vpon the drye land, dyed.

Thus was destroyed all that was vpon the earth, both man and beast, both wormes and foules vnder γ heauen: all these were destroyed from the earth. Sane Noe onely remayned, and they that were with him in the Arke. And the waters preuayled vpon the earth, an hundred and fiftie dayes.

The VIII. Chapter.

A Then God remembered Noe and all the bestes, and all the catell that were with him in the Arke, and caused a wynde to come vpon the earth: and γ waters ceassed, and the fountaynes of the depe and the wyndowes of heauen were stoppe, and the rayne of heauen was forbydden, and the waters ranne styll awaye from γ earth, and decreased after an hundred and fiftie dayes.

Vpon the seuentene daye of the seuenth moneth rested the Arke vpon the mountaynes of Ararat. And the waters were awaye and decreased vntill the tenth moneth: for the first daye of the tenth moneth, the topes of the mountaynes appeared.

After fourtie dayes Noe opened γ wyndow of the Arke which he had made, & sent forth a rauen, which flew out, and came agayne, vntill the waters were dried vp vpo the earth.

Then sent he forth a doue from him, to wete, whether the waters were fallē vpon the earth. But when γ doue coude fynde no resting place for hir fete, she came agayne vnto him in to the Arke, for the waters were yet vpon the face of all the earth. And he put out his hande, and toke her to him in to the Arke.

Then he abode yet seven dayes mo, & sent out the doue agayne out of the Arke: & she returned vnto him aboute the euen tyde: and beholde, she had broken of a leaf of an olyue tre, & bare it in hir nebb. Then Noe perceived, that the waters were abated vpon the earth. Nevertheless he taried yet seven other dayes, and sent forth the doue, which came nomore to him agayne.

In the sixe hundred and one yere of Noes age, vpon the first daye of γ first moneth, the waters were dried vp vpon the earth. Then Noe toke of the hatches of the Arke, and sawe γ the face of the earth was drye. So vpon the seven and twenty daye of the seconde moneth the whole earth was drye.

Then spake God vnto Noe, and sayde: Go out of the Arke, thou and thy wyse, and thy sonnes, and thy sonnes wyues with the. As for all the bestes that are with the, what so ever flesh it be (both foule & catell and all maner of wormes that crepe vpon the earth) let them go out with the, and be ye occupied vpon the earth, growe and multiplye vpon the earth.

So Noe wente out, with his sonnes, and with his wife, and with his sonnes wyues. All the bestes also and all the wormes, and all the foules, and all that crepte vpon the earth, wente out of the Arke, euery one vnto his life.

And Noe buylded an altare vnto γ LORDE, and toke of all maner of cleane bestes & of all maner of cleane foules, and offered bree sacrifices vpon γ altare. And γ LORDE smelled the swete sauour, & sayde in his hert: I wil hence forth curse the earth nomore for mans sake, for the ymaginacion of mans hert is euell, euen from the very yowth of him. Therfore from hence forth I wil nomore smyte all that lyueth, as I haue done. Neethy shall sowynge tyme and harvest, colde & heate Sommer and wynter, daye and nyght cease so longe as the earth endureth.

The IX. Chapter.

A And God blessed Noe and his sonnes, and sayde vnto them: increace & multiplye, and fyll the earth. The feare also and drede of you be vpon all bestes of the earth, vpon all foules vnder the heauen, and vpon all that crepeth on the earth, and all fyshes of the see be geuen in to youre hādes. All that moueth and hath life, be youre meate. Euen as the grene herbe, so haue I geue you all. Onely eate not the flesh with the bloude, wherin the soule is: For the bloude of you wherin youre soule is, wyll I requyre of the hande of all bestes: and the soule of man wyll I requyre of mans hande, yet euery mans soule of anothers hande.

He that sheddeth mans bloude, his bloude shal be shed by man agayne, for God made man after his owne liknesse. As for you, be ye frutefull, and increace, and be occupied vpon the earth, that ye maye multiplye therin.

Farthermore, God sayde vnto Noe and to his sonnes wth him: Beholde, I make my couenaunt with you, and with youre seds.
